

Dr. MARY WAMBARIA (PhD)

Dr. Mary Wambaria is the Deputy Director, Electronic and Emerging Media at the Kenya Institute of Curriculum Development (KICD). Before joining KICD she taught as a graduate teacher in secondary schools for about nine years.

Dr. Wambaria holds a PhD in communication studies from Moi University, Masters Degree in communication studies from the University of Nairobi, Bachelor's of Education Degree from Kenyatta University and a Postgraduate Diploma in Leadership in ICT and knowledge society from Dublin City University. She has attended several short courses, seminars and workshops on Educational Media production, broadcast management, Media strategies and project management among others.

She has published several books and teachers' guides and a book on Professional use of ICTs in education.